'Projecting the Perfect Picture'

The new Sainsbury's Local Store at North Lane, Headingley was officially opened by Hannah Saxon from Henshaws Society for Blind People. The building was formerly The Lounge Cinema, and has been transformed into the new store as part of a local development.

As part of Sainsbury's on-going Community Spirit Programme, a building grant was awarded to Henshaws Society for Blind People. Henshaws provide support, advice and training to hundreds of visually impaired people each year, helping them develop the skills and independence that will enable them to lead full lives.

Dear Glen,

Thank you for choosing to support Henshaws Society for Blind People as your charity of the year in our 175th Year. I look forward to working with you and your team.

Thank you again for your offer of the Building Grant we are looking forward to completing a joint project with you using these funds. The donations you raise throughout the year will go towards helping people with sight loss and other disabilities reach their full potential in life through caring and trusting relationships, enabling them to live independent and fulfilling lives.

I look forward to working with you over the next coming year.

Kind regards,

Hannah Saxon
